

ABSTRACT

- Described are methods for determining the presence or absence of particular
- 5 polymorphisms in CYP2D6 and other genes using scattered light detectable particles as detectable labels, and compositions useful in such methods.